Chancellor Makes Lengthy Explanation of His Position, But Says He Cannot Act as the Guardian for William.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—Emperor William never has been so severely judged by his parliament as he was today during the debate in the Reichstag on the interpellations concerning the conversations published with the permission of the emperor in the London Telegraph on October 20th. The criticism of his majesty's court, his ministers and his Majesty's treatment of men, as well as of his freedom of speech, went to lengths that astonished observers acquainted with the traditional caution of the chamber in dealing with the personality of the sovereign. And the emperor seemed to have no defenders.

Chancellor Von Buelow made an address lasting fifteen minutes, but he left his usual spirit, and a person high in his confidence it is authority for the statement that he also had told the emperor that neither himself nor his successors could remain in office unless his majesty was more reserved. Prince Von Buelow spoke solemnly and without making use of any dramatic efforts. The house received his explanation in low silence instead of giving it that cordial applause which as a general thing follows the chancellor's fine parliamentary declaiming.

The conservatives, representing largely the landed nobility, were almost as relentless as the Socialists, the Radicals and National Liberals, and today's proceedings are regarded by the extreme liberals as the beginning of a long contest between the crown and parliament that may end in Germany having a ministry responsible to parliament and not to the crown alone.

When Herr Bassermann, the National Liberal leader, a friend of Chancellor Von Buelow, began discussing the incident, the galleries were brilliant with the uniforms of officers and the costumes of women. In the royal box were Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, Duke Ernst August, a brother of the empress; General Jacoby, the imperial adjutant; and General Von Moltke, chief of the general staff, while on the raised platform, facing the chamber, were the resident envoys of all the German federated states.

Herr Bassermann was followed by Herr Wiener, Baden, and he in turn gave way to Herr Singer, Socialist, who declared that if a servant of the state had done such a thing as had Emperor William, he would be brought before an imperial court for trial.

Buelow's Lengthy Explanation

Prince Von Buelow spoke earnestly in reply to the criticism of the government and the emperor. His address was devoid of gesture. He said:

"I must speak my words because of the effect they will have abroad. I do not wish to add fresh prejudice to the damage already caused by the publication in the Telegraph. I assume that the details given therein are not all correct and I am certain that the story of a detailed plan of campaign to end the Boer war is not true."

This plan consisted merely of academic ideas concerning the conduct of war in general, which the emperor conveyed to Queen Victoria in the course of their correspondence and was without practical significance for the operations then going on or for the end of the war.

"We must defend our policy during the Boer war against accusation and censure. We gave timely warning to the Boers that they would be alone against England and that there was no doubt regarding the result. The facts with reference to the directions of intervention have been public property and whether the communication of these to Queen Victoria constituted a violation of diplomatic rules depends upon circumstances unknown to the public."

Concerning the statement attributed to the emperor that a majority of the German people in hostile to Great Britain, the expression used by the Telegraph is too strong, for relations have existed between Great Britain and Germany, but the German people desire peaceful and friendly relations with that empire, joined with mutual respect.

"The great stress also is laid upon the point in the interview dealing with our interests in the Pacific ocean, which are incorrectly presented as identical to Japan. We never thought about East Asia except for the purpose of obtaining a portion of the trade arising from economic development and we have no idea of entering a maritime adventure there."

The extension of the German fleet is just as little intended as aggression in the Pacific ocean. The task in Germany's policy is not to limit the development of Japan.

"For twenty years the emperor has striven to improve the relations with Great Britain, often under difficult circumstances, occasionally even attacking each other without real justification and the emperor considers this a violation for both and a danger to the civilized world. The emperor's ideals, thoughts, purposes and efforts without reason have come to grief, but they believed all testified positively that he believed the great cause when the shooting occurred."

The closing argument will be made tomorrow morning.

Old Soldiers Commit Suicide.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—Two old soldiers, veterans of the Civil war, committed suicide at the National home at Sawtelle today. Samuel Wiggins, 70 years of age, a veteran of Company 1 of the Twenty-second New Hampshire cavalry, agreed the arteries of his wrists and died at 2 o'clock. He was a patient in the tuberculosis ward. Francis M. Anderson, 62 years of age, a member of Company D, Twenty-second Iowa Infantry, took morphine and expired. He was afflicted with asthma.

The recognition of his majesty of the unfounded misunderstanding of the differences with reference to Great Britain and the evident and regret aroused thereby in Germany will, I am convinced, lead the emperor in future

HARD WORK SECURING JURY IN LAMphere CASE

LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 10.—The trial of Ray Lamphere, charged with the murder of Mrs. Stella Gunnness and her children, came to an abrupt halt this afternoon when the second special jury had been exhausted without a jury having been obtained.

Judge Richter ordered a third venire, the members of which will be ready for examination tomorrow.

With the adjournment of court today ten jurors were in the box. The defense today made public some of the new evidence in its possession, the principal feature of which is the story of Fred Lamphere, a brother of Mrs. Gunnness. Lamphere declared that he was driving to town one night in July, and saw a man and a woman in a buggy drawn by a gray horse drive into the Gunnness yard. He watched them and heard the woman say: "The money ain't here," after she had ridden out of the rig and walked around the ruins of the burned house. He says that the woman resembled Mrs. Gunnness. This evidence is to be used in corroborating the story of D. M. Hudson and his two daughters, who will testify for the defense, that they saw Mrs. Gunnness on July 9.

RUNAWAY BOYS ARRESTED.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 10.—Oscar Wyatt and John Rose, aged respectively 17 and 14 years, were arrested here this afternoon and detained in jail until word can be received from their parents in Los Angeles, from which city they ran away some weeks ago. They were tired and hungry, and they welcomed a good meal at the jail.

ONE OR MANY CONSPIRACIES?

Legal Point Arises to Worry the Court During Trial of Ruef on Bribery Charges.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—James T. Galagher, ex-supervisor and former acting mayor of San Francisco, took the witness stand today for the tenth time in the bribery graft case in which he is the prosecution's star witness, to testify against Abraham Ruef and begin his repeated story of the alleged bribery transactions of the building board, a supervisor of which he was a leading member and confessedly the agent of the graft. Ruef, whom the prosecution has instigated at various times was in danger of his life and was liable to be put out of the way to prevent him testifying any further in the bribery graft cases, and whose home was dynamited in Oakland last summer, looked hate and hearty and conducted himself with his customary composure on the witness stand.

Under his direct examination of Assistant District Attorney Daniels, J. Henry Gallagher began by telling of his political relations with Ruef and of the fixing up of the superintendents' numbers on the Union Lake ticked on which he and the other members of the Schmidt board were elected.

Gallagher's testimony was interrupted by a steady fire of volleys to an irrelevant, impudent and impudent outburst from Henry Ach and Thomas C. Dozier of counsel for Ruef, punctuated with the monotonous "objection overruled" by the court.

During the preliminary examination of Ruef in the police court some time ago Gallagher began by telling of his political relations with Ruef and of the fixing up of the superintendents' numbers on the Union Lake ticked on which he and the other members of the Schmidt board were elected.

200 DERRICKS MARK ONCE PASTORAL SCENE

During September 995,500 Barrels of Oil Shipped.

British Consolidated Oil Corporation Closes for Valuable Coalings Lands.

COALINGA, Nov. 10.—The activity in this field is wonderful. Where two years ago was only foxtail grass, and an occasional band of sheep, hardly feeding, watched by a French-Basque, today is a scene of great activity. Something like 200 new derricks have taken the place of the pastoral scene, and the oilmen in revenue have multiplied. The sheep graze only a little further away. The oil men from East-side fields, with life and vim, soon takes on the spirit of the field, and when business calls him away he leaves the men and the scene with regret. This is experience, picked up by all the live ones that grace the little oil city. There were 54 wells drilling on September 31st, on the east side and west side; ten wells that were being developed and 420 wells producing. There were 42 new rigs built during the month. On October 1st there were 590 rigs in the field. Quite a number of new rigs have been built since then. At midnight of September 31st, there were only 2,000 barrels of oil unshipped on the east side, with 18,000 barrels still on hand on the west side, or 20,000 barrels in temporary stocks. There were shipped during the month 643,000 barrels from the east side and 353,200 barrels from the west side, a total for the month of 985,500. The production for September showed a gain of 18,500 barrels over the previous month. The total production for September was 985,500 barrels. The total production for August amounted to 4,220,500 barrels.

The British Consolidated Oil Corporation, Limited, has closed the deal on three of the five properties that were considered as desirable, being the 40 acres on section 12-19-14, known as the P. M. D. & O. larger; 40 acres on section 12-19-15, known as the California Diamond Oil company, and 160 acres on section 26-19-15, known as the California Monarch Oil company. Sir Thomas A. Salt, Huron, the vice-president of the British company, examined the properties in company with Arthur W. Eastlake, M. E. Irvin with Arthur W. Eastlake, M. E. Irvin, and others were creating a disturbance. Heidenreich will plead tomorrow.

C. Van Loan, a pioneer of this country, 52 years of age, is lying at the point of death at his home in this city. It is believed he cannot live through the night. North Court street is being sifted from Oak to the High school following a liberal coating of sand, taken from the bed of Mill creek. It is believed practically a water proof surface will result. The experiment will be watched with considerable interest. Four hundred citizens of polished brass have been installed in the sheriff's room at the courthouse. On such nights as the moon is in her last it will be brilliantly lighted.

The Omega dancing club, organized by young ladies recently, will give its first party at the Auditorium Friday evening. It promises to be a very pleasant affair.

Ent Main street, from the Santa Fe, not to the city limits is to be made into a fine boulevard. The street now has been graded and will be paved. When completed it is expected to be one of the fine drives of the city.

Elijah Callahan and Miss Hattie Eitch, both of Lindsay, and Benjamin Quick of this city and Edna Williams of Tulare, were married this afternoon by Justice of the Peace Clark.

From estimates made by the British Consolidated Oil Corporation, Limited, it would appear that 5½ cents per barrel will deliver the oil from the bottom of the well to the purchasing company's tanks that cost can be cut in 4 cents per barrel by careful management with the coming improvement in well appliances and more convenient method of tanking. The experience gained is valuable to the oil men of this field.

The Kern Trading and Oil company, section 11-19-15, is building a complete camp, now nearing completion. Section 35-19-15 has on the headwaters for the east side all material being delivered there by the big freighters. It is reported that Charles Alexander will have charge of the east side camp. The company will soon have a camp on section 3-19-15. Material is now being put on that section.

The skeleton of a man found laying on the plains last week, on section 16-26-15, in a most unrefined place, was proven to be that of Charles Franz, a worker in the oil field. The untiring efforts of City Marshal John Mahland and Constable Arnold to positively identify the skeleton have unearthed some facts that point to that conclusion.

SELMA, Nov. 10.—Again hope is raised that the oft promised and long delayed improvements in Selma's telephone system are about to be realized. ### Three Thousand Acres Near Visalia and 1000 About Corcoran to Be Set Out.

VISALIA, Nov. 10.—The Pacific Sugar company is preparing to commence immediately the seeding of 4000 acres in this vicinity to sugar beets. Something over 2000 additional acres will be seeded between December 1st and the middle of March. This will insure plenty of beets for the local factory. The seeding in November is a departure from the custom of the past, when planting has been done at a much later date. It is hoped to have beets ready for the factory by the first of June, instead of the 20th or 1st of July.

About 1000 acres will also be seeded shortly in the vicinity of the Corcoran plant. As soon as it is determined that the latter factory will be operated next year, an additional 1500 acres will be planted, considerably of it about Conelo above Hanford.

The company is making all preparations for an exceedingly heavy output this fall.

Charles Gibson, manager of the local high school football team, has received a request for a game from the Local team of San Francisco. Since the defeat of Willingdon by the Vikings eleven years ago this city has been placed on the football map of the state fair. The case of Togul vs. Slovensky, involving title to property in Matthews' first addition to this city, was tried today.

Charles Beidleman, proprietor of a local theater, was before Judge Clark today to answer to a charge of battery preferred by Charles Crane, a 17-year-old boy. Beidleman says Crane and others were creating a disturbance. Heidenreich will plead tomorrow.

A few weeks back, Hal Say, Miss Alice Dean and Mrs. Ruth Wetzel returned to Fresno today after spending several days in Selma as guests of Mrs. Charles Snow.

After an illness of several months, W. A. Church passed away today at his home east of Selma. Mr. Church was a native of Plattsburgh, Vermont, and was aged 57 years and 1 month. The funeral services will be conducted from the residence tomorrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 1 o'clock, the interment being in Menlo cemetery.

One of the most delightful social affairs ever given in Selma was the celebration last night of the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stevens at the home of Mr. Stevens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stevens. Almost a hundred friends and relatives gathered to extend congratulations to the happy pair, who with the gracious hospitality for which the Stevens' homes are famous made the evening a delightful one.

The parlors were decorated in garlands of feathered plumes, fern combined with festoons of tiny hearts, and from them while the reception hall and dining room were bright with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums.

A number of the guests had sent their baby pictures and Mrs. N. Brown received an exquisite hand-painted plate for having guessed correctly the greatest number.

Mrs. Joel A. Smith rendered a beautiful piano solo in her unique, charming manner after which little Denzel Stevens and Helen Steinwand each gave a recitation. Mrs. A. Steinwand sang with beautiful expression "Love's Old Sweet Song." In an original reading, Rev. W. H. How extenuated a host of good wishes and happy prophecies.

Dr. A. R. Steinwand delighted his hearers with the favorite old-time song "Silver Threads Among Gold." During the evening Mrs. Joel A. Smith and Dr. A. R. Steinwand played a number of duets on piano and clarinet.

A bountiful wedding supper was served in the basement tea room, which was converted into a bower of grape vines. It was ingeniously acted out and many pleasing toasts were given to the bride and hostess, who responded in a happy manner. A number of unique presents were given to Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, as souvenirs of the occasion.

KINGS GROWERS SIGN 70 PERCENT TO POOL

Appoint Committee to Co-operate With Fresno.

Unsigned Growers Are Nearly All Chinamen, Not Familiar With Object.

HANFORD, Nov. 10.—At a well attended meeting of raisin growers, held this afternoon in Dewey hall, reports were read showing that about 1500 tons, or 70 per cent, of Kings' unsold crop had been sent up to go into the pool. The unsigned portion of the crop, which is in the hands of Chinamen, who thus far are fighting a little shy of the pool, owing doubt to the fact that they can not readily grasp its import, as the more intelligent growers.

The meeting was addressed by John Fairweather, Patrick Talent, J. D. Biddle, W. A. Long and other prominent growers. The speakers urged that all unite in the pool.

During the meeting, a committee composed of A. V. Taylor, Patrick Talent, D. Porter, J. D. Biddle, George Railback, Young Chew and Go Yam was appointed for the purpose of co-operating with the Fresno county committee in the sale of the crop.

The two suit cases stolen from Mr. and Mrs. William Clark at the S. F. depot, a few evenings ago, were recovered today by Constable H. M. Bernstein, who obtained the thefts from Mrs. Effie Roncliffe. Mrs. Banfield rents a number of furnished rooms at her home on Post Seventh, and on the night following the theft, one of her rooms left mysteriously, notwithstanding the officer who was notified and it developed that the suit cases were the property of the Clarks. The thief has not yet been captured.

A gang of bold thieves broke the seal on a loaded box car at the local Santa Fe depot in an early hour yesterday morning, making good their escape with about $100 worth of merchandise, consisting principally of ammunition and photo supplies. A small portion of the booty was recovered, it having been left hidden by the thieves in Brown's warehouse, which stands just north of the scene of the robbery. The stolen merchandise was consigned to the Horlock Chow company and A. L. Bailey of this city.

A number of important buildings in business locations have taken place. Wells-Fargo has moved its office into Cousin's building next to the Masonic temple. The Mitchell garage and the Compton Machine works are moving into the Imperial bank, which is being entirely refitted for its new occupancy.

To the Public.

Please take notice that all persons are warned against trusting Sonkein K. Tashian on my account or on account of the estate of John K. Tashian, deceased, as I will not be responsible thereafter. Mrs. Miriam K. Tashian, October 31st, 1908.

CANNOT:

The chances are a hundred to one that Joseph G. Cannon will be the next Speaker of the House of Representatives. And, in truth, while there are reasons why he ought not to be speaker, most of the reasons usually given are not good ones. It is nothing against Mr. Cannon that he is Czar of the House. Somebody must boss that job, and the members themselves have chosen Cannon to do it. If they chose somebody else, he would be Czar, too. Or if, as is suggested, the House elect the committee on rules, steering committee, direct, and increase its membership, that committee must either remain small enough to act practically as one man, or if it made large enough to be representative of various interests and sections, it will become a log-rolling body, and lose the power to say "No." And then the committee itself, to protect itself from helplessness, would have to delegate its power to its own chairman or to three members, just as the House has delegated its power to the speaker and to the committee on rules.

This business of pretending that members of Congress are equal, and should have equal rights, is simply futile bosh. Where a hundred bills are introduced for every one that it is physically possible to consider, somebody just makes selection among them. Leave it to the Introducers, and each will insist on the consideration of all, with the result of a total deadlock and no legislation. In other countries, a central body is either elected or appointed, to take the responsible initiative of legislation. The ordinary representatives merely debate and vote to accept or reject that legislation. In this country we have tried to do without authorized leadership, so we have had to put up with it unauthorized. In the House of Representatives, it is the speaker; in most states it is the governor. But control and centralized leadership there must be, or nothing can be done.

The reasons against Cannon are not that he dictates, but that he dictates the wrong things. Cannon is a reactionist and a stand-patter. He represents an attitude which the American people have outgrown and interests which they have repudiated. His retention as Speaker of the House simply means that the will of the people has not yet become effective. And yet the individual member of Congress is not to be blamed much for quietly accepting the inevitable, and making no attempt to defeat Cannon. Cannon got his place by the simple process of outvoting all his older contemporaries in Congress. And the people condemned him in it by not sending or keeping any one of speakership caliber to contest the election with him. In the due course of nature Joe Cannon will be eliminated from consideration. There seems to be no bribe course.

DISGUSTING

"But we want no Honey business in this town," says the Sacramento Union, in a screeching front-page editorial, referring to charges, whose truth it concedes, of graft and shams less conditions in the Sacramento county hospital. Let the grand jury investigate how the hospital can be made better. But let it not indict anybody. Let it if it can, give a clean bill of health to the superintendent and supervisors. But let it not give a bad bill of health to anybody. "The less muck-raking the better." There has been grafting, but "the worst of it is outlawed by the statute of limitations." Prominent business men are involved. Please don't tell on anybody.

Bah! There is no articulate expression of disgust adequate to characterize such an attitude. It is the last and idiotic conclusion of "the philosophy of inactivity, boost, don't know." It is the attitude of sycophants and curtesians, cowards and hicksies. Public officials and business men have combined to steal the medicines from the county's sick, the bread from the county's poor. The Union says so itself. But don't, in the name of standards, let anybody know who did it. Crawl on your belly before the stuffed idol of Mammon, and lick the muck on its feet. But don't take any muck away, for fear of exposing what is underneath. Hide and screen and cringe and sneak—and call that "boosting." But never expose or clean anything.

People with such notions ought to be kicked. The operation might administer mental and moral punishment by the most direct channel. And the men who would shield ought to be locked up. If the statute of limitations will permit, and exposed and disgraced in any case. We do not know how much "Honeyism" Sacramento needs. But the Union needs a lot of it. And so do many citizens of Sacramento who have no little manhood as the Union recommends.

BOTTLING AN EMPEROR

A president has more power and more freedom than a king. President Roosevelt says what he pleases, every day, and there is nobody but the New York Sun to say him nay. Emperor William said what he pleased, just one day, and there has been a terrible to-do ever since. Chancellor von Hindenburg said yesterday, formally and officially, that he was convinced that the emperor, in future private conversations, would "exercise that reserve which, in the interest of a uniform policy and the authority of the crown, is indispensable."

"If this proves not to be so," added the Chancellor, "neither I nor any of my successors could take the responsibility." Which was practically a warning to the emperor that he must check the recklessness of his private utterances, or he would be stripped by peaceful revolution, of his public power. Anybody who should make that threat to President Roosevelt would find himself in trouble, instantly.

The method of suppressing the emperor proposed by Chancellor von Hindenburg is characteristic. Under the German constitution, the chancellor must countersign all the public acts and utterances of the emperor, and the constitution says he is "responsible," but neither the constitution nor the law has ever defined wherein that responsibility consists. The chancellor is not like the British premier, accountable to the national legislative body, and there is, in fact, no way of holding him responsible to anybody for anything. Nevertheless, if the chancellor refuses his signature, the emperor's act is not valid. The emperor or may discharge him, and appoint another chancellor, but if the act to be signed is such that no one will accept the office if he has to sign it, then the emperor is helpless, except under the desperate expedient of appointing his personal valet, or some other irresponsible flunkie, as temporary chancellor. And that would be an act so revolutionary as to invite revolution.

So Emperor William is to be effectively bottled, by one undefined word, in the autocratic constitution of his empire.

WHEELER AND JAPS

"They are worthy of all respect and admiration as a people and a nation," said President Wheeler, speaking of the Japanese to the Ann Arbor students, "and we must abide in friendship with them and learn from them and teach them any love of them and sell to them, but it is best that the two peoples should not huddle too much the process of coming to dwell together on the same soil and in the same commonwealth."

Which was a characteristically gentle expression of a terribly real fact. There is no intelligent reason why the national friendship of the American nation for the Japanese nation should be any less now than it was during the Japanese-Russian war. There is no reason why we should not welcome the commerce of goods and ideas between the nations. And there is no reason except ignorance and stupidity why we should set ourselves up as better than the Japanese. In fact, the white men who are loudest in their claims of racial superiority over the brown men are usually those individuals who least manifest the alleged superiority in their own persons. The Japanese have earned the right to be treated as the equals of white men, and they must be so treated.

But, just because the two races are equal, they must be kept physically apart. They can not exist as members of the same community, in a republic, without putting on republican institutions a strain they are not calculated to sustain. Nature has marked the two races with a different sign, and that sign means "keep apart." Our own people accept that decree of nature, each class for itself. Our laboring people object to Japanese laborers, but they have no objection to Japanese business men. Our business men do not object to Japanese laborers, but they do not want Japanese business competitors. Our farmers want Japanese coolies, to pick fruit, but when Japanese begin buying land in the neighborhood, our farmers move out. Our people refuse to affiliate socially with the Japanese, and their presence presages a race problem which neither people has the capacity to meet. The process of living together as members of the same community needs to be more than retarded. It needs to be stopped.

An editorial in the New York Sun portrays the regrets of Roosevelt at not being able to anticipate meeting a man-eating tiger in Africa, since they do not grow there. The Sun carefully and ostentatiously avoids expressing its own regret, which is based chiefly on the chance that if there were such a man-eater in Africa it might eat Roosevelt. Whereupon the Sun, and all the rest of J. Pierpont Morgan's hired voices, and ladies, would be greatly rejoiced.

HUSBAND OF MISSING WOMAN WANTS RIG BACK

Does Not Care for Runaway Wife, But Issues Warrant for Riley's Arrest.

Harvey Harris, the vineyardist of Fresno Colony, whose wife ran away with her family of four children twice before a Santa Fe brakeman named D. G. Riley, has now invoked the aid of his law in securing some of his property back. He informed the police that he will not search any further for his spouse, but wanted Riley arrested for grand larceny.

He alleges in a complaint sworn out before Police Judge Briggs that Riley stole his horse and buggy, the vehicle being utilized by the couple in eloping from the city the second time, Saturday night. Mrs. Harris and Riley are alleged to have gone to Colton, while Monday Mrs. Harris came to the city in the rig and met Riley, both living in Harris' outfit.

By arresting Riley for grand larceny it is thought that whereabouts of the missing woman can be ascertained. The police stated yesterday that the Riley referred to is not Joseph A. Riley, the Southern Pacific brakeman. The missing man is employed by the Santa Fe and spells his name Riley.

CHINESE MINISTER SPEEDS HIS AUTO

Chapman Is Arrested for Exceeding the Limit on Crowded New York Thoroughfare.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Wu Ting-Pang, Chinese minister to the United States, with six men, an example of the zeal of New York City bicycle police in checking speeding automobiles tonight, when a motor car in which he and a member of his staff were riding was pursued for blocks down Broadway and overtaken when it stopped at the Madison hotel.

As soon as the automobile stopped, the bike policemen ordered Robert Officer, the chauffeur, from the box. The man was astonished to see two distinguished cyclists step from the motor car and he was more amazed a second later when Secret Service Agent P. M. Baldwin stepped in his side and made known the identity of the Chinese minister. Visions of international complications flashed through the mind of the bike policemen, whose name was Leonard, but he had already declared the chauffeur under arrest and he said there was no cause left open to him but to take the chauffeur to the night court. Wu Ting-Pang and Mr. Ho, his companion, in the automobile ride, walked quickly into the hotel when they saw that the secret service man had taken charge of the case.

At the police station further details of the chase through the city were given by Leonard. According to the policeman, twenty-five miles was the average speed, although at times faster than that.

Wu Ting-Pang and Mr. Ho had been to Ossining in the afternoon and were returning to the city to attend the banquet at the Hotel Manhattan when their motor car broke down. The man driving of which Oliver was the driver, had been delayed. The breakdown had caused a delay and the Chinese minister was greatly perturbed.

"I told the chauffeur to go as fast as he liked, to make all the speed he could get out of his machine," said Mr. Baldwin and added, "I guess he did." Magistrate Stemberg fined Oliver $5 for speeding, which fine Baldwin paid and the chauffeur was released.

HUNDREDS FIGHTING GREAT FOREST FIRES

MARLINTON, W. Va., Nov. 16.—Conflicting reports reached here at a late hour tonight indicate that while the forest fires which have been burning near the property of the West Virginia Lumber and Paper company's timber lands on Cheat Mountain have been checked considerably the danger point is not yet regarded as past, and 1500 men have enlisted as volunteer fire fighters.

The strong wind which blew from the northeast last night and which drove the fire nearer to the property of the spruce company, has died down and the prospect for rain tonight is fair.

Seven hundred acres of rock oak and hemlock is on fire within a mile of town and grave fears are entertained for the safety of outlying buildings and the town itself.

MRS. ISABELLE MARTIN IS ILL IN COURT

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Isabelle Martin, who is on trial on a charge of having dynamited the home of Judge Ogden, appeared in court today despite the fact that she was so weak with illness that she could hardly stand. She refused to ask for a continuance, stating that she desired to have the case ended as quickly as possible. After court adjourned it was necessary for the bailiffs virtually to carry Mrs. Martin back to her cell. Evidence heard in the case today was of a cumulative nature, the prosecution endeavoring to weave the whole mass of its testimony against Mrs. Martin into a complete chain of circumstances connecting her with the crime.

BOARD TO INVESTIGATE SUSPICIONS AGAINST EPISCOPAL CLERGYMAN

John Bakewell, chairman; Rev. E. N. Parsons, Rev. D. J. Evans, Rev. A. N. Brown and Charles E. Havens, lay members. The board was appointed at the request of Rev. Mr. Young. If the board finds that the evidence justifies further investigation a full ecclesiastical court will be appointed to pass judgment on the clergyman.

PRIEST WAS PARTY TO PLOT AGAINST LOVER

And Now Is Held Accessory to the Murder of Man Who Resisted Hoodlum Attack.

RUTLAND, Vt., Nov. 16.—Interesting evidence was given today by Leon Black, a 17-year-old girl, at the trial of Rev. Father Francis Crochon, former pastor of the Indian church here, who is accused of having been an accessory to the murder of George Santoro, who was stabbed to death near this city July 22.

Miss Black testified that Father Crochon told her that he must go out with one of the girls on the night of July 22, and left Santoro, who had been beaten, a bridge where other Indians, two of whom were now serving as witnesses for the murderer, went to strip Santoro of his clothing, and then struck him so that he would not let the girl longer.

The priest told her, she said, that it would not be right but an honor for her to go because Santoro was cutting her character.

After Santoro had resisted the attempts of his assailants to disrobe him and was killed in the noise, the girl said the priest cautioned her to say nothing of what had occurred.

"BLACK EAGLE" ORDER GIVEN COUNT ZEPPELIN

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—It was erroneously reported here today that Emperor William had made a successful ascension in the Zeppelin airship and the evening editions of the local papers carried detailed descriptions of the retarded flight of his majesty.

The explanation of the mistaken report is to be found in the fact that Prince Von Esterhazy, who did make an ascension with Count Zeppelin, was mistaken by the cheering crowds for his majesty. The prince has been the emperor's traveling companion lately, and when he made the ascension today he was clad in the same style of hunting dress that the emperor has been wearing.

The explanation of the mistake reported is to be found in the fact that Prince Von Esterhazy, who did make an ascension with Count Zeppelin, was mistaken by the cheering crowds for his majesty. The prince has been the emperor's traveling companion lately, and when he made the ascension today he was clad in the same style of hunting dress that the emperor has been wearing.

The error is the more easily accounted for because Emperor William was at Friederichshafen today and it was reported last night that he proposed making an ascension with the count.

When the count returned from his short flight with Prince Von Esterhazy he was welcomed by the emperor, who apparently conferred upon him the order of the Black Eagle. His majesty hung the chain of the order around the neck of the count and then kissed him three times amid the cheering of the assembled crowd.

How to Sell Diamonds

No price should ever be cut, for it is not right to make the desirable customer who trusts you, pay more than the one who takes up your time by haggling over prices.

We have found that the majority of people only want to be certain that they are receiving the best price that any one else gets, and that most of the haggling over price-cutting was done just to insure that they did get the proper price. This discussion of price takes time, and time means extra clerk hire, and in having only one low cash price we are able to serve you with less expense and to sell you diamonds for materially less than we could if we asked you one price, and then, after a long wrangle, took what we should have asked in the first place. Compare our prices.

COUGH QUICKLY CURED

Don't Let the Child Choke to Death While Waiting for the Doctor.

Cough should have prompt treatment. The life of many a dear one has been sacrificed because the right remedy was not at hand.

Put those attention to the child who is feverish, thirsty, and occasionally cough dryly and sharply. This is the first stage of cough and instant treatment should be given.

Hyssop, the antiseptic dry air treatment will cure cough in either the first or second stages, rapidly induced, even when the breathing is irregular. It reaches more promptly than any other remedy the terribly inflamed membranes of the windpipe. Its soothing balsams act immediately, the inflammation is allayed, and the swelling reduced.

"Not long ago our little boy, Walter, awoke in the night with a bad attack of cough, so the experienced doctor tried to bring him up. We all knew him to be ill, and he immediately began to breathe easier, and in half an hour was fast asleep. Our children, being subject to cough, we feel safe with Hyssop in the house, and I am glad to spread a good word for a remedy that will rule crop of terrors."—Rev. Geo. Sisson, Pastor of St. M. church, South Londonbury, Vt.

Hyssop (pronounced High-o-ee) is the quickest acting and most easily rapidly ever discovered for all diseases of the nose, throat, and lungs. It is guaranteed by the San Joaquin Drug company to cure catarrhal coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and cough, or money back. A complete outfit, including a heat hard rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1.00. An extra bottle of Hyssop, if afterwards needed, costs but 50 cent.

private conversations to exercise that power which in the interest of a uniform policy and the authority of the crown is indispensable.

If this proves not to be so, neither I nor any of my successors could take the responsibility. I accepted the blame for the publication of the article in the Daily Telegraph and offered my resignation and it was the most difficult task in a political life to resolve to remain in office. How long I will continue there I do not know, but consider it my duty to make difficult period to continue to the end of the emperor and the nation."

Not Unfriendly to Great Britain. Herr Bassemann, a National Liberal opened the debate. He expressed a hearty desire for the continuance of friendly relations with foreign powers and said he believed that a very small proportion of the German people was unfriendly to Great Britain. The personal element in foreign policies was dangerous, he declared, and the higher a man stood the greater care he should take of his utterances.

The National Liberals did not desire the resignation of Chancellor von Buelow, but they did want the limitation of the personal element in the conduct of foreign affairs. In continuance was bound to bring out the truth.

Herr Bassemann rejected the entire effects of the emperor's utterances. He said that China, Japan, and America had taken note of the fact that the Germans did not have authority described as for action on the Pacific. The Japanese press had been in an uproar over the declaration. Great Britain had been stirred to greater naval preparations and Germany's relations had become worse with well-nigh all the principal powers, but especially with France, Russia, Great Britain and Japan.

There ought to be an end to imperial personal policies and interference with the responsibilities of the chancellor such as had been manifested recently in the Tower Hill and the Tweedmouth affairs. Practically the entire German people was of one mind concerning the various effects of direct imperial interference in the foreign affairs of the nation. Royal monarchs could only regret that damage had been done the monarchical principle especially at a time when a strong republican party had grown up. This statement was greeted with applause from Socialists.

Emperor Badly Informed. "The Emperor is very badly informed," the speaker said, "when he says that the German people are hostile to Great Britain. It has been affirmed in the Tower Hill and the Tweedmouth affairs. Practically the entire German people was of one mind concerning the various effects of direct imperial interference in the foreign affairs of the nation. Royal monarchs could only regret that damage had been done the monarchical principle especially at a time when a strong republican party had grown up. This statement was greeted with applause from Socialists.

Decide Appellate Judges in Refusing to Overrule Lower Court on Present Evidence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Bail was denied Charles W. Morse, the financier who has been sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment at hard labor at the closing of the U. S. Circuit court of appeals yesterday, and it now seems certain that the former multi-millionaire must remain in the Tombs prison at least until December 3rd next, when arguments on the writ of error that has been granted him may come up.

Judges Latouche, Ward and Cox of the U. S. court of appeals rendered their decision late today. One judge is left open to Morse's counsel in the defense and that is that the judges decided that while bail was denied it was done without prejudice to a renewal of the application after a bill of particulars is filed.

The judges stated briefly that as the trial judge in the proceeding against Morse had refused to admit him to bail, the reviewing judges were not prepared, on the papers submitted to them, to make a disposition of the motion.

Morse had been hopeful of gaining his release from the Tombs today, and his denial of bail can as a hard blow to his wife and son, Harry, had been done in the jail during the afternoon and evening him in the hellish noon would be free by nightfall.

Mrs. Morse and her son left the prison before the decision had been rendered and the news was conveyed to the press by an assistant in his counsel's office.

While Morse tried to hide his disquietude, he told the court east down to the rear of his cell and sat on the edge of his hard-marrow bed and refused to make any comment.

Judge Hough gave as his reason for possibility of a charlatan doctor refusing to admit Morse to bail that the case was not an extraditable one and that it would be easy for Morse to escape, "but through his own efforts."

It is said that the Morse attorney will file a bill of particulars, as Morse well sells on the other side of the ocean release, "but his representatives abroad shall not be checked him men."

This statement brought out another point: "We regretted greatly the incident over the appointment of David J. Hill, though his money or securities to meet the cost of his defense, as it did to distract the good relations between the United States and Germany. It was exceedingly desirous of obtaining his well sold on the other side of the ocean release, and the news was conveyed to the press by an assistant in his counsel's office.

This statement brought out another point: "We regretted greatly the incident over the appointment of David J. ## NEWS OF THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Directors Award Pennant To Moreing and Drop
San Francisco From League To Allow Proposed Exhibition Games.

Here is good news for local fans. If the plans of President A. B. Evans and Secretary W. F. Toomey, it is proposed to bring Cy Moreing and his five-time pennant winners of the California State League to this city, for two exhibition games next Saturday and Sunday at Recreation Park, dropping the San Francisco and Oakland teams from the personnel of the league, and awarding the 1908 flag to the Shamrocks.

On the same date, the San Jose and Sacramento clubs will fight it out in two games for second place. If Bill Curtis' suggestion take both games from the same players the teams will be tied for second honors, and another series of possibly three or five games between the cities will determine the rightful winner. At the same time, Santa Cruz and Alameda are to try conclusions at the Beach city in the final games of the season.

The above plans were announced by the directors of the local club yesterday after an extended conference over the long distance telephone between Secretary Toomey, President Herman, Cy Moreing, Jarman, the Prune Pickers, Curtis of the Senators, and personally between Evans, Toomey and Fred Swartz of the Sand Crabs. Swartz is in Fresno on business and was the one to suggest the plan as Oakland is scheduled to play the final game with Stockton Saturday and Sunday, and the Shamrocks having a lead of a half game over San Jose, everyone concedes the pennant to Moreing.

Manager Schwartz of the cellar champions could not strengthen his club, inasmuch as Moreing controls the Oakland club and pay Schwartz his salary, therefore a ride could not very well be slipped over on Cyrus, Jr., such as putting Pacific Coast and National leagues in Oakland uniforms and going to Stockton.

The Shamrocks toyed with Alameda and the Panthers have always defeated the Oaks, therefore it would only be giving two games to Stockton and giving one to San Jose for poor crowds. San Francisco is scheduled to play here and as Lou Schroeder's bunch has been a poor drawing card all season, the locals would hardly be able to pay expenses. Consequently the exhibition games with Stockton are being considered. All are willing, including President Frank Herman, with the exception of Manager Jarman of the San Jose club. He stated over the long distance phone last night that he would give his answer today. His only point for hesitating was that he thought perhaps Oakland could find one game from the Shamrocks and as San Jose figures on taking both from Sacramento to the pennant must fly from the pennant, he will give his consent.

COAST LEAGUE PLAYERS
ON INELIGIBLE LIST

President of Northwestern League Blacklisted for Assaulting Umpire Ralph Frary.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—More than fifty baseball players of the Milwaukee and Minneapolis teams of the American association and of the Three-I, Southern and Pacific Coast leagues were placed upon the ineligible list by the national board of arbitration to-day. They were alleged to have defied the rules of the agreement by engaging in post season games with "outlaw" clubs. No fines were meted out but signing contracts for next season that players must apply for reinstatement, when their punishment will be decided upon by Secretary Farrel. The board ordered the blacklisting of President Wolsz of the Spokane club for alleged charges against Umpire Frary, which could not be substantiated.

TWO WOMEN HELD TO ANSWER FOR ROBBERY

Third Woman Will Likely Be Sent to Friends in Porterville for Reformation.

Mrs. Joe Reilly, wife of the well known pugilist, and Mrs. R. J. Mullins, were held in answer to the Superior Court by Police Judge Briggs yesterday on a charge of robbing a man named Crookson of $100 while the women and the man were engaged in a "beer-bust" at the home of Mrs. Reilly a week ago.

The robbery was the culmination of a rift between Crookson and the Bell family and Mullins' woman in Porterville. The Bell family, who was later arrested for robbing, but who confessed to robbing Mrs. Reilly and Mrs. Mullins to rob Crookson, will likely be given her freedom and sent back to friends at Porterville. Mrs. Ellis is a young girl, having been married when she was 16 years of age.

The court considers that there is a chance for the reformation of the young woman.

DETECTIVE ARRESTS
SUSPECTED FORGER

Man Wanted in Visalia Captured on J Street By Detective Farren.

Detective Charlie Farren made a clever catch yesterday when he arrested a young fellow whose full name is S. H. Christie, on suspicion of being a man wanted in Visalia for forgery under the name of Walter E. Martin. The suspect was taken into custody on J street by Farren on a meager description sent out by the Visalia authorities. He was booked in default at the county jail, awaiting further word from Visalia.

Martin or Christie, denied that he had never been in Visalia in his life. He stated that he came from Sacramento only a few days ago.

The charge is that Martin forged two $10 checks on a Visalia physician.

KAUFMAN WINS BY

Terry Mustain Stays 14 Rounds
With "Big Al."

Mustain Takes an Awful Beating, While Kaufman Leaves Ring Unscratched.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—Al Kaufman, of San Francisco, knocked out Terry Mustian of Omaha, in the 14th round of their scheduled 25 round fight at Jeffries' arena tonight.

If the plan does not go through,

Kaufman will work a promising boxer from Clovis, named Smith on the road Saturday against San Francisco, with Blankenship catching on Sunday. Ike Tufts of the Brunswicks will be in the box with Roy Kuhn, a younger brother of Waller Kuhn, behind the bat. It seems like all the good boxers in this neck of the woods have come from Clovis. Wall Kuhn broke up the league with a mighty home run swat last Sunday.

Organized Baseball Sure

Regarding the prospects for outlaw organized baseball next year, President Evans stated yesterday that he favors a organized ball if the State League can get proper recognition from the other leagues and at the same time receive proper classification in order not to be imposed upon by the remaining organizations in the country.

"Without a doubt," said "A. B." next year will see organized baseball in California, if we can get what we want for, I think we will, regardless of what Cy Moreing has said, and if we succeed in our plans, we will have just as fast ball next season as we had this year, with lower salaries.

"There will be a club in Oakland, managed by Cy Moreing, which is to be known as the Galdurd team and which will play on the Oakland grounds, the home club, the Pacific Coast League Oakland club being a road team. There was no authoritative confirmation but they were made the basis of many further conclusions affecting stocks. In which Union Pacific is a holder. Stocks in which the Harriman interests had been demonstrated moved up strongly from the financial depression when the Harriman Pacific began to boom. The early depression was explained by many unwarranted developments such as the necessity of the violation of the anti-trust law by the American Tobacco company, which was assumed to be yesterday.

The purpose to turn profits into cash was very apparent in the rush to take advantage of the high opening of prices to sell, which varied prices backward to the neighborhood of last night's prices.

Then it was that the movement in the Harriman's came to the relief of the supporters of prices. Although the response was strong in the stock with Harriman affiliations the sympathetic movement in the general list was constrained by steady offerings to cash.

A feature of the trading was a number of sensational advances in specialties.

S. P. IS CONVICTED BY FEDERAL JURY

Accused of Violating Safety Appliance Law.

Trial of S. C. Lillis Is Opened—Cases Against Santa Fe to Come Up Today.

The first conviction of the present session of the federal court in this city was secured yesterday when a jury brought in a verdict of guilty against the Southern Pacific railroad, accused of violating the safety appliance law. The Southern Pacific was convicted on five counts, and as the fine on each is $100, the fine which will be imposed against the railroad will be $500. Judge Wellborn granted a 30-day trial to the railroad, thirty days to appeal the case.

The case was brought to an abrupt end before noon yesterday on a ruling by Judge Wellborn. Very soon after examining James A. Lawson, one of the witnesses for the prosecution, when he asked him if he had ever complained any of the alleged violations to any employee of the railroad, District Attorney Lawlor objected to the question on the grounds that court decisions hold that mere proof that the law has been violated is sufficient evidence against the offenders and that it is the duty of the railroad alone to see that its appliances are in order. Judge Wellborn sustained the objection and Attorney Lawlor very stated that there was nothing left for his client but to plead guilty.

After instructing the jury to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff, Judge Wellborn stated that the law is for the benefit of railroad employees and that it is the duty of the railroad to see that all appliances are in good condition. He added, however, that if a coupling or other appliance should break as the train was going between stations the railroad company could not be held liable, provided the train or car affected was taken out at the next station. In this instance he said it would be a physical impossibility to comply with the letter of the law, but that the company would be complying with the spirit of the law.

Two of the counts on which the Southern Pacific was convicted were tried at Bakersfield, where it was alleged two cars were found with broken couplings. Two other counts charged a similar violation in this city and the last count was the finding of a switch engine at Mojave with the front coupling apparatus missing. James A. Lawson and Henry Kirch, government inspectors, were the only witnesses examined by the prosecution and the defense did not put a single witness.

The jury which tried the case consisted of Otto Nestel, F. M. Chittenden, C. H. Riege, Charles King, A. W. Moore, Clark A. Stevens, William Burrows, A. S. Sonoren, George Studer, J. N. Benedict, B. M. Hague, Jr., and C. L. Walker.

Attorney Stanton L. Carter, representing the Santa Fe people, asked for a continuance of the three cases against this company until today, as he did not believe one count was correct and he wanted a ruling by the court. The case will probably come up this afternoon.

There are three cases against the Santa Fe involving thirteen counts. The railroad company will put up no defense whatever and will probably enter a plea of guilty with the right of appeal.

The work of securing a jury for the government case against S. C. Lillis, who is accused of enclosing government funds, was completed yesterday afternoon and the case was opened.

O. T. Rogers was put on the stand as the first witness for the government. A large number of witnesses have been subpoenaed for this case and it promises to be one of the most interesting on the calendar at this session. The land in question is situated in the Cantua district and is surrounded by about thirty-five miles of fencing. In enclosing this land Little is charged with enclosing a large area of government land to which there is no entrance or exit.

The grand jury is still in session, but has not returned any indictments thus far. It is expected that it will take up the standard case either today or tomorrow.

The Kinnish case was postponed until the next term of the court.

Cases Dismissed.

The criminal case against William Henderson, who was indicted jointly with Thomas Randolph, charged with selling postage stamps stolen from the post office at Corcoran Junction, the post office at the north end of town, a lot of men were put to work yesterday and plowing was being laid for a temporary water service.

Manager James Hayes said that the work was being done to grade and clean up the grounds. He would not comment himself as to what the next month after that would be. He declared that he was following orders in the cleaning up of the grounds and what the future would bring forth would depend on the head office. He intimated that the trustees would like to be asked to reconsider the subject at a full meeting of the board. He said that the piping is being laid also to lay down the ashes so that they may be handled and removed from the ruins of the burned down brick warehouse, the road damaged wall of which also would be torn down.

It is said she suggested that the grinding and cleaning up process is only a preliminary move by the company to protect itself or later with an proposed oil storing plant, which is stated will represent an outlay of from $2,000 to $25,000, added to the price paid for the tract which was to hold when in operation stock of a value from $60,000 to $70,000, if work is done to the plan it is attempted according to the original plan. It is understood that an injunction suit may be looked for by the property owner.

It is said that the contemplated work is gone on with. It will be on the authority of the original permit granted and which the board on Monday rejected. The Union Oil company is said to be acting on legal advice and that the reversion of the period of time beyond the power of the board.

The point is advanced that the permit was granted under the charted ordinance by officers so empowered and those having been in them under the authority the board would not revoke the permit granted. The oil and storage tanks which are located in tanks or warehouses quantities larger than those prohibited within the corporate limits when stored in tanks or warehouses specially licensed for use and devoted exclusively to such storage.

In other words that if the trustees would prohibit what they have authorized by ordinance can be done, then must repeat the ordinance and be brought up in all probability before the ordinance and charter.

Another point urged against the action of the board is that inasmuch as the sale and storage of petroleum in large quantities is permitted by ordinance 302, and is recognized as legitimate business, it was not for the board to condemn it beforehand as a

SAYS QUARANTINE MUST BE STRICT

Health Board Will Enforce Regulations.

Tendency Noted to Be lax in Mild Forms of Contagious Diseases.

The City Board of Health at last night's meeting discussed the necessity of full sanitary precautions in the event of a diphtheria and scarlet fever in the city. The milk supply was generally said to be good. The meeting was held at Dr. Lopez's office with Drs. Barr, Landis and Grayson in attendance. Dr. Martin, who announced his intention of resigning, was present.

City Health Officer Lopez's report showed 32 deaths and 27 births for October. Of the deaths 20 were white, one a Kankoo, one a Chinese. Of the births, 15 were female, 21 white, 2 Japanese and one a Chinese.

The woman's general health was reported as good. Seven cases of scarlet fever and seven of diphtheria were noted. Most of the cases of diphtheria were reported from the thickly populated districts, south and west of town where there is much dust, many children are in the streets and where general sanitation is not the best. Isolated cases of scarlet fever were also noted in different parts of the city.

In this connection, Dr. Lopez dropped a suggestion to encourage the co-operation of all physicians practicing in the city in maintaining strict adherence to the quarantine ordinances. The necessity of this is thought would be appreciated in connection with small cases of diphtheria, or scarlet fever, where the little patient is bright and decidedly contagious by the third day and the family physician tells the friends that the disease of contagion is all past at the end of the week and that the health officer will probably release them by taking the card from the house in just a few days, when the ordinance requires 30 days quarantining in these diseases.

Since the use of antitoxin is so general, the fatality of the disease of diphtheria is limited, but the recurrence remains practically unchanged. Yet there are the same outbreaks with Fresno's decidedly cosmopolitan population, and with the inherent tendency of much of the foreign element to settle together in small, poorly ventilated apartments with much dust and dirt flying outside, together with little regard paid to sanitary regulations, a continual warfare is necessary in order to suppress repeated outbreaks of diphtheria as well as other contagious diseases, said the health officer.

Dr. Lopez announced the continuation of a good wholesome milk supply to the city, with most all the dairies under good sanitary management. "But," said he, "there are two of the eleven plants supplying milk to our city which need most frequent stimulation along the lines of cleanliness and thoroughness in taking and handling their milk, and it is a pity that such persons could not recognize the law of the fitness of things and choose locations that would be more in harmony with their inherent and unchangeable tendencies."

With the hearty co-operation of the teachers and principals of the public schools, and parents, the school authorities will be repaid against before long, by the same outbreaks. With Fresno's decidedly cosmopolitan population, and with the inherent tendency of much of the foreign element to settle together in small, poorly ventilated apartments with much dust and dirt flying outside, together with little regard paid to sanitary regulations, a continual warfare is necessary in order to suppress repeated outbreaks of diphtheria as well as other contagious diseases, said the health officer.

Meat Inspector Bauer reported another illness that the meat was being sent out reported against before long, was thoroughly cleaned, renovated, repacked and placed in a wholesome condition. He has under way the thorough cleaning of a butcher shop on K street which he had found in a greater or less degree very unsanitary.

The board entered upon the initiative of Beaverton, Laramore on a long discussion in an effort to establish a rule to classify any city from wet garbage, and for the protection of Laramore as a public health center with Police Chief Shaw for the exercise of some judgment by the police in the prosecution of the necessary business of scavenger work.

Chairman Burr and Dr. Lopez will argue today with City Superintendent McLane for a day and hour to address the assembled teachers on the general subject of contagious ailments and particularly affections of the eyes in school children.

It was decided in a brief, formal, warning that unless acted upon at once a house at 1364 H street, opposite the fire library and another at 1265 H street will be placarded as unsanitary and unfit for human habitation.

VALLEY BANK NOT LIKELY TO RE-OPEN

Part of the Money Is Raised to Pay Back the Depositors.

The bank commissioners are expected in Fresno in the few days to take further action on the Valley Savings bank, recently ordered closed. The directors are now in process of adjusting the affairs of the institution. By virtue of the commission the depositors must be paid back and the stockholders have rights in part the money necessary for this purpose. There is a difference of opinion among those interested in the bank as to whether to try to go on with the institution, and it seems now very doubtful if this bank will ever be resurrected. "It would always be the bank that was closed," said a man interested in it and who is in favor of getting out with as little loss as possible.

The Randolph case will also be brought up in all probability.

With the exception of the criminal case, the only cases of any importance are those pending before the federal court at this session, although no definite statement has been given out regarding the matter.
